

FREE THINGS TO DO!

| | | |
|------------------------------------|---|--|
| Monday Oct. 23 | WORKSHOPS // Shiver & Scream: a Scary Sound Effect Design Workshop Dig deep into the life of a sound designer in this fun and intensive 4-hour workshop hosted by philanthropic education organization foundry10. Indie game composer Joshua Du Chene will show you the ropes on making Foley sound, manmade sound effects that make all the difference in horror movies and games. Register in advance for this awesome opportunity! | 5:00 pm - 9:00 pm Vera Project Recording Studio 305 Harrison St |
| Tuesday Oct. 24 | CIVICS // Seattle Mayoral Debate Down to just two candidates, the Seattle Mayoral election is down to the wire! Support your city and watch candidates Jenny Durkan and Cary Moon debate over a series of compelling topics and tackle audience questions. Submit questions in advance if interested. | 6:30 pm - 8:30 pm doors open at 5:45 Starbucks Center 2401 Utah Ave S |
| Wednesday Oct. 25 | ART // Public Art Party Don't miss out on this annual exhibit of the best Seattle public art works of 2017 acquired by the Office of Arts & Culture, whose goal is to advance Seattle's cultural innovation and foster creativity. This celebration focuses on large works of public art as well as smaller, portable pieces—you're sure to find something extraordinary! | 6:00 pm - 8:00 pm King Street Station 303 South Jackson St |
| Thursday Oct. 26 | ART // Darks and Lights Five different Northwest artists illustrate the darkening transition from fall to winter in this special seasonal exhibit. Observe their varying interpretations of the cycles of nature and the meaning of home that they draw between lines of dark and light. Even better, the SAM is open from dark till light on Thursdays, so check it out! | 10:00 am - 9:00 pm Seattle Art Museum 1300 1st Ave |
| Friday Oct. 27 | MUSIC // Halloween Organ Concert No Halloween is complete without a gloomy, chilling soundtrack. Luckily, an ensemble of dedicated UW organ music students are at your service. Register online for a seat at their Halloween organ concert, where they'll tear up UW's beloved Littlefield Organ with classical pieces that have inspired fright through history. | 7:30 pm Walker-Ames Room, Kane Hall, UW 4069 Spokane Ln |
| Saturday Oct. 28 | ART // Bizarre Bazaar Although spooky all year around, Spooked in Seattle is a must-visit venue on Halloween weekend. Stop by this famed hub of local legends and lore to check out what local art and festive entertainment they have in store. | 4:00 pm -9:00 pm Spooked in Seattle Museum 102 Cherry St |
| Sunday Oct. 29 | MUSIC // Chamber Winds: Fountain of Youth The University of Washington Wind Ensemble, called Chamber Winds, unite with students and professors of the Shanghai Conservatory to bring you an afternoon of music from UW composition student Aiden Gold, as well as from beloved classical composers Mendelssohn and Strauss. | 1:30 pm Brechemin Auditorium Music Building, UW |